Promoting Community Psychology and Communal Thriving through Teaching

This innovative roundtable discussion will explore ways to promote social change and justice in the classroom. Presenters will share teaching tips, innovative teaching methods, classroom exercises, syllabi, films, tools, coursework and field experiments with audience members. Using a poster presentation format audience members will be allowed to share, discuss, and gather information from presenters. At the end of the session Dr. Susan McMahon, the CEP Outstanding Educator of the Year, will conclude the session.

Anyone can be a presenter!
Interested presenters should bring a poster, syllabi, and/or presentation to share
